Instructions for rough draft

(1) A rough draft of your final paper is due April 28 by the beginning of class.

(2) Substantive restrictions:
   a. State your hypothesis clearly.
   b. Write it as if you were writing for a classmate, not for me.
   c. Say where you are getting your data from.
   d. Cite sources explicitly where appropriate.
   e. Make sure everything is really clear.
   f. Make sure to have a friend read it and make sure it’s clear before you turn it in.
   g. Check your grammar and spelling before you turn it in.
   h. Make sure to have fun writing it.

(3) Formal restrictions:
   a. It must be typed double-spaced in a reasonable-sized font.
   b. It cannot exceed five pages.
   c. It really is due at the beginning of class on April 28.